Subchapter C. DETERMINATIONS

§844.50. Preliminary Determination Order, Determination on Remedial Action, and Penalty and Cost Order.

- (a) After an investigation, the Agency will mail a preliminary determination order to each party stating whether the Agency determined the employer took an adverse action against the complainant for a refusal to be vaccinated against COVID-19 in violation of Texas Health and Safety Code, Chapter 81D.
- (b) If the Agency determines that a violation exists, but no remedial action has occurred prior to the preliminary determination order being issued, the preliminary determination will notify the parties that:
 - (1) a violation has occurred;
 - (2) an administrative penalty will be imposed;
 - (3) the employer may remediate the violation;
 - (4) the amount of reasonable investigative costs, if any, the Agency will seek to recover from the employer; and
 - (5) each party has the right to file an appeal.
- (c) If the Agency determines that a violation exists, and the employer has taken remedial action prior to the preliminary determination order being issued, the preliminary determination will notify the parties:
 - (1) that a violation has occurred;
 - (2) whether the remediation was sufficient to remove the administrative penalty;
 - (3) whether an administrative penalty will be imposed;
 - (4) of the amount of reasonable investigative costs, if any, the Agency will seek to recover from the employer; and
 - (5) that each party has the right to file an appeal.
- (d) If an employer submits proof of remedial action after the preliminary determination order is issued, the Agency will issue to each party a separate determination on remedial action with separate appeal rights. An employer has 30 days to submit proof of remedial action from the mailing date of the preliminary determination order. If the employer does not submit proof of remediation within 30 days, and/or does not appeal, the Agency will not consider any proof of remediation. An employer's timely submission of proof of remedial action will be considered an employer appeal of the preliminary determination order and the appeal will be abated until the appeal period for the determination resolving the sufficiency of the remedial action has expired.

- (e) If the employer files a timely appeal to the preliminary determination order, the employer may remediate at any time up until the hearing officer issues his or her decision, after which the employer must comply with the requirements of §844.85(e) of this chapter.
- (f) After a preliminary determination order, a determination on remedial action, or decision becomes final, the Agency will issue a penalty and cost order to the employer detailing the final amount owed to the Agency by the employer with instructions for submitting payment.
- (g) Determinations shall be mailed to each party at the best address available as required by §815.3 of this title, or at the location each party usually receives mail.

§844.51. Remedial Action.

- (a) Under Texas Health and Safety Code §81D.006(a)(1) and (2), an administrative penalty will not be assessed if prescribed remedial action is taken in response to a complaint. The remedial action required to avoid a penalty depends upon the specific facts that resulted in a violation. Depending upon the circumstances of the violation, remedial action may require:
 - (1) if the complainant applied for an employment or contract position with the employer, and was not offered such position based upon his or her refusal to be vaccinated against COVID-19, the employer must offer the complainant the position applied for;
 - (2) if the complainant is currently, or was recently, an employee or contractor of the employer, the employer shall take the following remedial steps as applicable to the violation. Not all steps may be applicable to remedy the adverse action that resulted in a violation:
 - (A) reinstatement of the employee or contractor;

- (B) providing the employee or contractor with back pay from the date the employer took the adverse action; and/or
 - (C) the employer must take every reasonable effort to reverse the effects of the adverse action. Reasonable efforts include, but are not limited to, reestablishing employee benefits for which the employee or contractor otherwise would have been eligible if the adverse action had not been taken.
- (b) Acceptable proof of a remedial action may include an offer or hiring letter on company letterhead, a signed new hire paperwork, a signed settlement letter, or completion of an Agency form by the complainant attesting to the remedial action.
 - (c) Proof of remedial action shall be submitted online as identified through the Agency's website page related to COVID-19 mandate complaints, by other means authorized in writing by the Agency, or to the assigned hearing officer in accordance with §844.85(e) of this chapter.

- (b) The Agency may not recover from the employer investigative costs incurred in conducting an investigation into whether the employer took remedial action.
- (c) The preliminary determination order will inform the employer of the investigative costs calculated by the Agency.
- (d) The investigative costs may, at the discretion of the Agency, be included in the amount owed in the penalty and cost order even if the employer took remedial action.

- (a) If Agency staff discover a clerical error of a non-substantive nature in connection with a determination or decision issued under this chapter, within the applicable appeal period, the Agency may reconsider and reissue the determination unless an appeal has already been filed.
- (b) A reissued determination voids and replaces the determination or decision issued under this chapter requiring correction and becomes final unless an appeal is filed from the determination within 30 days of the date the reissued determination is mailed.

§844.55. Appeal and Determination Finality.

- (a) Appealable Determinations:

 - (2) An employer determined to have not met the remedial action requirements under §844.51 of this subchapter may appeal the determination on remedial action within 30 days of the mailing date of the determination.

§844.80. Hearing Procedures.

- (a) General Procedure. The hearing shall be conducted informally and, in such manner, as to ascertain the substantive rights of the parties. The hearing officer shall develop the evidence. All issues relevant to the appeal shall be considered and addressed.
 - (1) Presentation of Evidence. The parties may present evidence that is material and relevant, as determined by the hearing officer. In conducting a hearing, the hearing officer shall actively develop the record on the relevant circumstances and facts to resolve all issues. To be considered as evidence in a decision, any document or physical evidence must be entered as an exhibit at the hearing. A party has the right to object to evidence offered at the hearing by the hearing officer or other parties.
 - (2) Evidence Generally. Evidence, including hearsay evidence, shall be admitted if it is relevant and if in the judgment of the hearing officer it is the kind of evidence on which reasonably prudent persons are accustomed to relying on in conducting their affairs. However, the hearing officer may exclude evidence if its probative value is outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, by confusion of the issues, or by reasonable concern for undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence.
 - (3) Examination of Witnesses and Parties. The hearing officer shall examine parties and any witnesses under oath and shall allow cross-examination to the extent the hearing officer deems necessary to afford the parties due process.
 - (4) Additional Evidence. The hearing officer, with or without notice to any of the parties, may take additional evidence deemed necessary, provided that a party shall be given an opportunity to rebut the evidence if it is to be used against the party's interest.

§844.82. Default.

If a party to whom a notice of hearing provided under this chapter fails to appear for a hearing, the hearing officer may proceed in that party's absence on a default basis. If a final decision is issued, the factual allegations listed in the notice of hearing may be deemed admitted. If a party fails to appear at a hearing, the hearing officer will issue a notice of default to that party. A party may file a motion no later than 14 days after the notice of default is mailed to set aside a default announced at the hearing and to reopen the record. If a timely motion to set aside a default is filed, the hearing officer may grant the motion, set aside the default, and reopen the hearing for good cause shown, or in the interests of justice. The hearing officer may issue a decision denying the motion to set aside a default without a hearing if the motion fails to allege a reason for the party's failure to appear or if a party has failed to appear at three or more scheduled hearings.

§844.83. Timeliness.

- (a) Parties shall promptly notify, in writing or during the recorded hearing, the Agency of any change of mailing address. Determinations and decisions shall be mailed to the new address.
 - (1) If a party properly designates a party representative, a determination or decision must be mailed to the designated party representative for it to become final.
 - (2) The Agency is responsible for making an address change only if the Agency is specifically directed by the party to mail subsequent correspondence to the new address.
 - (3) If the Agency addresses a document incorrectly, but the party receives the document, the time frame for filing an appeal shall begin as of the actual date of receipt by the party, whether or not the party receives the document within the appeal time frame. However, this does not apply if the party fails to provide a current address or provides an incorrect address.
- (b) A determination or decision mailed to a party shall be presumed to have been delivered if the document was mailed as specified in subsection (a) of this section.
 - (1) A determination or decision shall not be presumed to have been delivered:
 - (A) if there is tangible evidence of nondelivery, such as being returned to the sender by the US Postal Service; or

- (B) if credible and persuasive evidence is submitted to establish nondelivery or delayed delivery to the proper address.
- (2) If a party provides the Agency with an incorrect mailing address, a mailing to that address shall be considered a proper mailing, even if there is proof that the party never received the document.
- (c) The filing date for a complaint or an appeal shall be:
 - (1) the postmark date or the postal meter date (where there is only one or the other);
 - (2) the postmark date if there is both a postmark date and a postal meter date;
 - (3) the date the document was delivered to a common carrier, which is equivalent to the postmark date;
 - (4) three business days before receipt by the Agency, if the document was received in an envelope bearing no legible postmark, postal meter date, or date of delivery by a common carrier;
 - (5) the date of the document itself, if the document date is fewer than three days earlier than the date of receipt and if the document was received in an envelope bearing no legible postmark, postal meter date, or date of delivery by a common carrier;
 - (6) the date of the document itself, if the mailing envelope containing the complaint or appeal is lost after delivery to the Board or Agency. If the document is undated, the filing date shall be deemed to be three business days before receipt by the Board or Agency; or
 - (7) the date of receipt by the Agency if the document was filed online or by fax.
- (d) Credible and persuasive testimony under oath, subject to cross-examination, may establish a filing date that is earlier than the dates established under subsection (c) of this section. A party shall be allowed to establish a filing date earlier than a postal meter date or the date of the document itself only upon a showing of extremely credible and persuasive evidence. Likewise, when a party alleges that a complaint or appeal has been filed that the Agency has never received, the party must present credible and persuasive evidence to support the allegation.
- (e) A decision or preliminary determination order shall not be deemed final if a party shows that a representative of the Agency has given misleading information on appeal rights to the party. The party shall specifically establish:
 - (1) how the party was misled; or

- (2) what misleading information the party was given, and, if possible, by whom the party was misled.
- (f) Appeal and complaint deadlines are extended one working day following a deadline which falls on a weekend, an official state holiday, a state holiday for which minimal staffing is required or a federal holiday.
- (g) There is no good cause exception to the timeliness rules.

- (a) The hearing officer shall issue a written decision as soon as possible after the hearing is finally closed.
- (b) The Agency shall notify each party to a contested case of any decision of the hearing officer by mailing the decision to the parties or the parties designated representative if requested.
- (c) The decision shall include findings of fact and conclusions of law separately stated and a list of the individuals who appeared at the hearing. Findings of fact, if set forth in statutory language, shall be accompanied by a concise and explicit statement of the underlying facts supporting the findings. - (e) If no decision has ruled on remedial action and the employer intends to take remedial action in response to a decision issued under subsection (d) of this section, the employer must notify the hearing officer of their intent to remedy within 14 days of the decision being issued. Notice of intent to remedy must be filed in accordance with the instructions provided in the decision. Upon notification, the hearing officer's decision will be reopened for 30 days for the employer to provide proof of remedial action to the hearing officer.
