Priority of Service In Action

Example

The office waiting room contains five individuals who have applied for services. The receptionist identifies two of the individuals as covered persons. The two covered persons would move to the top of the wait list and would have their applications processed prior to the non-covered persons.

Example

A group of 10 individuals have met the eligibility requirements to receive grant services, but there are only enough slots for 8. Three of the group have been identified as being covered persons . The three covered persons would fill the first three slots and the remaining slots could be filled with non-covered persons.

Displacement

What Priority of Service doesn't mean:

- Non-covered persons who are currently receiving workforce services are not displaced in order to provide priority of service to covered persons
- Slots are not “reserved” for covered persons
